ARTICLE 8

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

1. The parties agree that the orderly process hereafter set forth shall be the method for resolving grievances and disputes arising with respect to the interpretation or application of any provision of this Agreement. It is the objective of the parties to this Agreement to encourage the prompt and equitable resolution of grievances where possible, and to attempt to do so at the lowest possible level. No member of the bargaining unit shall be subject to reprisal for using the Grievance Procedure or for participating in the resolution of a grievance.
2. General Provisions
  - a. A “grievance” is any dispute or difference concerning the interpretation, application, or claimed violation of a specific provision(s) of this Agreement.
  - b. A grievance shall be filed within twenty-one (21) calendar days from the time the grievant knew or should have known of the alleged violation.
  - c. A grievance may be initiated by a member or a group of members of the bargaining unit or by the Union. A “grievant” can be a faculty member, group of faculty members of the bargaining unit or the Union.
  - d. In cases where the Union contends that an administrative action affects multiple unit members and is alleged to be a violation of the Agreement, it may file the grievance at Step 3 with the Provost.
  - e. Failure by the Grievant to comply with the time limitations of Step One shall preclude any subsequent filing of the grievance.
  - f. Failure by the Grievant at any step of this procedure to appeal the grievance to the next step within the specified time limits shall be considered acceptance by the Grievant of the decision rendered at the last step.
  - g. Failure by the University at any step to communicate its response within the specified time limits shall permit the Grievant to proceed to the next step.
  - h. The time limits in this Article may be extended by mutual agreement between the grievant and the University. In the event that a time limit expires on a Saturday, Sunday or holiday, such time limit shall be extended to the next regular business day.

The parties agree, however, that claims of discrimination under this Agreement under the Non-Discrimination Article may be processed in accordance with University’s EEO policies and procedures. This process, which involves formal investigation of the allegations of discrimination, will result in a decision by the University as to whether discrimination has occurred or not. If discrimination is found by the University, appropriate steps will be taken to address the discrimination. If discrimination is not found, nothing shall preclude the Union from appealing any final University decision on such a claim directly to arbitration within forty-five (45) days of that final decision.

iii. The procedure for arbitration shall be as follows:

- a) The Arbitrator shall have no power to add to, subtract from, modify or disregard any of the provisions of this Agreement.

The Arbitrator shall not be automatically disqualified from hearing the substance of the case by reason of determining arbitrability.
- c) Each party shall bear the expense of preparing and presenting its own case. The compensation and expenses of the Arbitrator shall be borne equally by the parties.

ARTICLE 9

DISCIPLINE

1. The University agrees that no bargaining unit member shall be suspended or discharged without just cause. Discharge shall be the termination of a Teaching Lecturer's appointment prior to the expiration of that appointment.
2. The University also agrees that a decision to not to retain a unit member for misconduct or failure to follow rules, regulations and policies of the University will also be subject to a just cause standard. This standard will not, however, apply to decisions not to retain a unit member for performance reasons or staffing or budget considerations
3. Written warnings are the first level of documented discipline. The University will not issue written warnings to Teaching Lecturers arbitrarily or capriciously.
4. It is understood that the University, in addition to issuing disciplinary action, may also include with such discipline reasonable remedial measures, when appropriate, with which the Teaching Lecturer must comply, provided the remedial measures are rehabilitative rather than punitive.
5. Discipline for purposes of this Article shall not include oral counseling or verbal reprimands, nor shall it include performance reviews.
6. At the President's discretion, a Teaching Lecturer may be placed on paid administrative leave to permit the University to investigate potential or alleged misconduct that may lead to discipline. However, being placed on such administrative leave shall not itself be deemed discipline.
7. In cases where the administration is conducting an investigatory interview that the Teaching Lecturer reasonably believes may lead to discipline, the Teaching Lecturer shall have the right to have a Union representative present at the meeting. The administration shall provide a reasonable notice of such meetings and the allegations to be discussed at the meeting.
8. The University will adhere to the principle of progressive discipline. However, the parties agree that every disciplinary matter must be judged on the basis of all surrounding circumstances and that the penalty imposed may vary based on such circumstances. Some acts of misconduct may warrant a more serious penalty and lesser sanctions may not be appropriate.

ARTICLE 10

WORKLOAD

1. It is understood that the Teaching Lecturer reports to the Program Coordinator or Designated Personnel Evaluator or his/her designee.
2. The workload of a Teaching Lecturer includes the following:
  - a. Effective teaching of the assigned course or courses in accordance with any department or University guidelines as may be amended from time to time. Professional expectations in connection with teaching at the University shall be the same for Teaching Lecturer as those expected of full time faculty members as articulated in other University policies, as may be amended from time to time.
  - b. Availability to students in the course for consultation, including providing reasonable access by email and reasonable office hours of no less than one hour per week for each course taught.
  - c. Attendance at any required department, College, School or University meetings within one week of the start of classes.
  - d. Adherence to all department, College, School or University rules, regulations and guidelines as may be amended from time to time.
  - e. On-going consultation and cooperation with the department as may be appropriate regarding the integration of the course taught into the department's curriculum and any other related matters.
  - f. Completion of any mandatory training required by the University, including but not limited to sexual harassment and discrimination training and the use of campus technology.
3. A Teaching Lecturer will not teach more than twenty four (24) graduate or undergraduate credits in an academic year (Fall or Spring). The Associate Provost may make exceptions to this limit in his/her discretion when it is in the best interests of the University. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed to guarantee to any Teaching Lecturer a certain number of credits per semester.
4. From time to time the University may separately contract with Teaching Lecturers to complete a special project or to serve in some special capacity for the University for an agreed-upon stipend and with Association approval.
5. While not part of normal work expectations, any Teaching Lecturer who is involved in research or grant funding is subject to all University policies governing such work as well as compliance with federal or state regulations and procedures that may be associated with grant work.

6. Affordable Care Act

If future revisions or interpretations of the Affordable Care Act by federal government agencies and/or the courts conclude that such a workload could be deemed “full time” for benefit purposes under the legislation, the parties will reopen this Agreement to negotiate over the impact of such interpretation or revision. In the event that the ACA is revised, amended or repealed or altered in any significant manner, the parties agree to reopen this agreement to discuss the impacts of said alterations of the ACA.

APPOINTMENTS AND ASSIGNMENTS

1. All Teaching Lecturer appointments and assignments will be made by the Provost, or by another appropriate administrator at the University, following the recommendation of the Program Coordinator or Designated Personnel Evaluator. Appointments shall be made on a semester or annual basis only and shall be limited in duration to the particular semester or academic year for which the Teaching Lecturer is retained.

Except as otherwise specifically provided for in this Agreement, no appointment shall create any right, interest or expectancy in any further appointments beyond its specific term.

2. Teaching Lecturers who have served five (5) continuous years of University teaching service and who are appointed for a sixth year shall receive an appointment for a full academic year rather than semester assignments, and shall, upon request, receive a letter documenting the appointment. Such appointments may include a varying number of assignments based on the criteria of this article and it is understood that, despite the annual appointment, a faculty member may receive no course assignments for a given semester of that appointment year.
  - a. The University's personnel records will reflect that a Teaching Lecturer is a continuing employee in between appointment periods unless the Teaching Lecturer has not been given a teaching appointment for more than two (2) consecutive academic terms. Nothing in this Article (11.2) shall be construed or interpreted in such a way as to create any right, interest or expectancy in any further appointments as defined and established in Article 11.1 of this Agreement.
3. Each semester, the University shall determine the courses which need to be filled by Teaching Lecturers and when such courses shall be offered. The University shall consider the following factors in deciding whether a Teaching Lecturer will receive an available assignment:
  - a. seniority
  - b. the credentials and qualifications (including sub-specialties and areas of particular expertise) of current Teaching Lecturers, PSU faculty and staff, and other available faculty from outside the University;
  - c. the teaching experience of current Teaching Lecturers, PSU faculty and staff, and other available faculty from outside the University;

- d. evaluations and work performance of Teaching Lecturers, and PSU faculty and staff;
- e. the stated availability of Teaching Lecturers based on the submission of the availability form referred to in Section 6 below and
- f. the needs of the department.
- g. legitimate educational objectives of the University
- h. the existing modality of the course or its equivalent.

Such factors are not in order of priority.

Seniority, within the bargaining unit, will commence upon a Teaching Lecturer's fifth semester of employment as a Teaching Lecturer at Plymouth State University and continue semester by semester.

4. The University agrees that any Teaching Lecturer who is not given an appointment due to performance related reasons may grieve such decision under the Grievance and Arbitration Procedures under the standard of whether the University acted arbitrarily or capriciously.
5. Any Teaching Lecturer who is interested in teaching for a given semester or academic year shall complete and submit a teaching availability form indicating his or her availability for assignments for an upcoming semester which shall include the times and days of the week he or she can teach and an indication of how many credits the Teaching Lecturer would like to be assigned. Such availability form, attached to the contract as Appendix A, shall be submitted no later than December 1 of the preceding academic year for the subsequent Fall semester and no later than August 1 for the subsequent Spring semester. The form shall be submitted to the appropriate Program Coordinator or Designated Personnel Evaluator for her/his use in determining the upcoming course assignments.
6. A form that is submitted late may still be considered by the University in its discretion, but the failure to return the form by the deadlines in section 5 may render the Teaching Lecturer ineligible for consideration for appointment for the semester being planned.
7. It is understood that the receipt of a teaching availability form by the University does not obligate the University in any way to provide an appointment or a particular assignment to the Teaching Lecturer, nor does the submission of the form guarantee either the schedule or number of credits sought by the Teaching Lecturer.
8. While the University will endeavor to inform Teaching Lecturers of tentative assignments as soon as possible, formal appointment letters with final particular course assignments shall be sent to the Teaching Lecturers at least 30 days prior to the start of the semester. However, any cancellation of a course assignment after August 1 for the Fall or after January 5 for the Spring will result in a cancellation fee payment to the Teaching Lecturer of 10%, unless the University reassigns the Teaching Lecturer to an alternative course, in which case no cancellation fee will be paid. Any pay that has been distributed by the date of the cancellation will be deducted from the 10% cancellation fee.

9. The University, up to the end of the drop/add period, at all times retains the right to decide whether or not a particular course will run due to enrollment, programmatic, budgetary or other reasons.
10. A Teaching Lecturer who is not available for appointment or who otherwise does not teach at the University for five semesters within a five year period shall no longer be considered a member of the bargaining unit, except that this period may be extended at the University's discretion for up to an additional two semesters due to disability or child rearing following the birth or adoption of a child.
11. Promotional Opportunity: Ten -Year Promotional Review to Senior Teaching Lecturer

After ten (10) years of consistent service, teaching a minimum total of one hundred forty (140) credits and meeting certain requirements outlined below, a TL shall be considered for promotion to the rank of Senior Teaching Lecturer.

This proposal seeks to create an environment in which TLs are encouraged to follow the University motto Ut Prosim but also, through their service, better the lives of their students and their community as well as their own station in the university community through merit. It is designed for those TLs who not only have met the criteria stated above but who have also demonstrated a service commitment to the University over and above any teaching expectation.

Applying for a promotion to Senior TL is strictly voluntary. A TL who is interested in being considered for Senior TL status will first file with the Provost an Intent to Apply form in the Spring semester before they plan to apply. The Provost or designee will convene a Promotion Review Panel. The Promotional Review Panel shall include:

1. One full-time faculty member from same discipline or, if not available, from the same Academic Administrative Unit;
2. One full-time faculty from a different Academic Administrative Unit.
3. One Teaching Lecturer

4. One member of the Human Resources Team;
5. One member of the Office of Academic Affairs;

Responsibilities of the Candidate:

- Bargaining Unit Members should apply for promotion when they have met the minimum time in rank and are able to make a compelling case that they have met the criteria for effective teaching and service.
